Each child is a gift to parents in the world. This is evidenced by every parental leave and try their best to the children, not least in terms of education. The first education for children is the family as forming the character, nature and attitudes of children before they get a formal education. Parents have responsibility full for their children Ambaryanti (2013). But parents have limitations in educating their children, so the responsibility for the education delivered in schools. Parents have a dominant role in the education of children, because the parents are the ones who understand the need for education of children and as well as the need for child development.

The task of parents to direct their children to choose a good school and in accordance with the stages of child development. Tutorial parents also serves to provide an assessment of the schools to be selected. It is not that parents wrong choose the school and the child is not depressed with the direction of the parents. Influence The parental comes from the motivation of parents to choose the child’s school.

Parents motivation arising from impulse that occurs in parents and encouragement that occurred from the outside. Urge within the parent in question is they have a goal to be achieved by choosing school the best for their needs. While the impulse that appears from the outside is the persuasion of friends among the parents who will choose the child’s school. Similarly Danim (2004) says motivation is defined as the strength, encouragement, needs, encouragement, pressure, or psychological mechanism that a encourages person or group of people to achieve specific achievements line in with what he wanted. High and low motivation that existed at parental that influence on children to determine the direction of education. Parent’s motivation arises from a variety of viewpoints to choose a school that can provide facilities and can facilitate the process of learning and development of children. Regarding the education of their children parents need their cooperation with other parties such as school parties. With the cooperation and mutual trust between parents and the school will create child maximum education, objectives and expectations of parents in education of children to be achieved in terms of education preschoolers / before entering primary education.

Preschool education for children is very diverse, ranging from the Daycare, Playgroup, Kindergarten. Based on the facts on the ground, some parents choose the child’s school without the seeing specific criteria, they chose the school with the most important reason children, to have a willingness to school and the children feel happy. Many parents believe that schools are essentially the same only difference is only in ways that the school each in providing educational services to children. Other parents believe children’s education is not a problem, because they are aware that the higher the cost of the school is reflected in the facilities and output is assigned a school. Many parents do not consider the location of a school, a location adjacent to the highway with easy access into the right choice. According to them (parents) school is located on the edge of the highway can be accessed easily using a variety of vehicles such as private vehicles or public transportation (public transportation, rickshaws, motorcycles or elf).

And lastly there are some parents who not the did consider children’s education is stressed in religion. They argue that all schools and learning activities of children already contains a religious aspect. Based on this background, the problem in this research are: (1) How is the motivation of parents in choosing ECD in terms of profile of the institution?
