INTRODUCTION

In today's world, sport is one of the most effective educational and moral ways, especially for young people, and it is a tool that is becoming more and more scientific. This growing importance has led legal thinkers to establish a special field called "sports law" and to deal with various aspects of this social relationship, such as labor and agricultural law (Katouzian,
In this regard, many countries have developed programs to prevent crime, so that some of these programs are considered by international centers, including the "International Center for Crime Prevention", which is a UN consultant in the field of crime prevention is considered, is located. Regarding the fight against crime in Iran, it must be acknowledged that action prevention alone cannot be considered, because on the one hand, according to Article 156, paragraph 5 of the Constitution, prevention is one of the duties of the judiciary, and on the other hand, attention to crime prevention. Social harms in the country are new. It seems that with an intermediate approach, criminal and non-criminal prevention can be considered in this regard (Ebrahimi, 2015).

Sports law clarifies the legal duties, powers and responsibilities of all those who are involved in sports activities in any way. But it should be known that exercise is not separate from dangers and injuries and one athlete may make a mistake on another. The legislator has not overlooked these dangers and harms and has taken them into account. Therefore, as stated in paragraph T of Article 158 of the Islamic Penal Code adopted in 2017, if these actions were carried out in accordance with the rules of that sport and those rules are not contrary to Islamic law, no crime has been committed, but according to the law, civil liability still stands (Yaghoubi Nejad, 2013). Many violations committed by athletes, coaches and referees in relation to sports in terms of their responsibility can even be considered a crime, and often a single action can lead to criminal and civil liability.

Hence, judicial authorities such as general courts, special authorities, disciplinary committees, dispute resolution boards, arbitrators and the International Court of Arbitration for Sport have been established to deal with these crimes (Aghaei, 2020). The ideas and theories that were formed in the light of the scientific schools of criminal law and criminology, gradually clarified the fact that punishment alone cannot provide for the eradication or eradication of violations of normative values, and gradually thinkers need to use measures. Non-repressive was emphasized along with punishment in order to prevent the commission of a crime (Ebrahimi, 2021).
With this emphasis, many countries have developed crime prevention programs; some of these programs have been considered by international organizations, including the International Center for Crime Prevention, which is considered the United Nations Adviser on Crime Prevention. Regarding the fight against crime in Iran, it must be acknowledged that action prevention alone cannot be considered. Because, on the one hand, according to paragraph 5 of Article 156 of the Constitution, prevention is one of the duties of the judiciary, and on the other hand, taking care of the prevention of crime and social harm in the country is a new thing. It seems that with an intermediate approach, criminal and non-criminal prevention can be considered in this regard (Ebrahimi, 2015).

According to the statutes of the sports federations of the Islamic Republic of Iran, it is obvious that in case of violation of technical regulations, according to the relevant sport, a special punishment will be considered by the disciplinary committee, which are mostly in the form of regulations and instructions. Is (Kashif, 2015). However, due to the dangerous nature of sports activities, the lack of sports law specialists in different stages, the development of laws and regulations, bylaws, the existence of major problems in the process of approval, judging and implementation of votes (unity of the three legislatures, judiciary) and executive in the disciplinary committees of sports federations), Failure to pay attention to preventive issues in the occurrence of violations, including general, specific and specialized prevention with the situation has led to the commission of sports crimes and the taste of investigations in disciplinary committees and ultimately harmed and violated the rights of athletes and those involved in sports.

Considering the presented conditions and considering that the existing laws in different sports have not reduced the occurrence of irreparable sports accidents on the body and soul of athletes and on the other hand, disciplinary committees, appeals and judicial authorities outside the country due to repetition Accidents In sports competitions - have not had a very effective role in improving or reducing accidents, violations and sports crimes, it seems that the recurrence of irreparable accidents, violations and crimes in Iranian sports indicates a limited awareness of those involved in sports, including athletes, coaches are the referees of their criminal and civil responsibilities, and the establishment or establishment of a similar body with sports federations specializing in sports law can be an intermediary or missing link in the country's sports. (Shukri, 2015). Sports law is a set of rules and regulations that regulate the legal relations between athletes, coaches, managers, sports equipment manufacturing industries, clubs, departments and organizations related to each other, and while outlining macro sports justice policies, all financial matters. And contractual, crimes, sports accidents and violations, criminal and civil liability, compilation Sports law includes the analysis of international and domestic documents and the like.

Its objectives are: to increase the legal awareness of the sports community in the field of sports law, to use this knowledge in order to prevent the occurrence of sports crimes and violations, to clarify the vital role of sports from the perspective of Iranian law, to explain the duties and powers of sports managers Legal opinion, Provide a variety of legal measures that must be taken before and after the occurrence of sports accidents, inform the sports community of the legal consequences of violations in sports, the most important result of which is to protect the physical, mental and dignity of athletes and to protect management. Sports is a legal responsibility. (Yaghoubi Nejad, 2021).

According to the statutes of the sports federations of the Islamic Republic of Iran, it is obvious that in case of violation of technical regulations, according to the relevant sport, a special punishment will be considered by the disciplinary committee, which is more in the form of regulations and instructions. (Kashif, 2015). Given that sports activities are mainly faced with potential dangers during training and at higher levels of national and international competitions, and on the other hand, in some cases, these dangers are inevitable and there is no escape.

This problem can be solved as much as possible by employing legal experts and consultants in drafting, explaining and interpreting international regulations and their localization, because currently every Sport is covered by a sports federation and sports federations in addition to the citizenship of the ministry. Sports and Youth and the National Olympic Committee are also members of international federations and are always required to comply with the laws communicated by the said federations. Ignorance of international laws and regulations generally creates problems for athletes, coaches, sports teams, national federations and even for the entire sport of the country.

Considering the role of sports verdict, which is related to the occurrence of violations and crimes, in the present study, with a preventive look to reduce crimes and sports violations, we seek to answer the question of whether the establishment of a sports right’s federation is necessary or not?

Method

Since this research seeks to measure the effectiveness of knowledge of legal laws regarding the establishment of a legal federation in reducing accidents caused by activities in various fields, so the data of this research are quantitative and qualitative. In other words, the research method in this study is mixed research. Library information using reputable scientific journals and publications and articles published in them, referring to important and reputable libraries in the country such as the National Library and Archives of Iran and referring to reputable scientific sites has been collected. The main data collection tools in this study are questionnaire and interview. In this research, two researcher-made questionnaires were used and quantitative data from SPSS software were analyzed using descriptive and inferential statistics. In the descriptive tests section, the data were examined with the help of central indices of mean, standard deviation, etc. Review and categorization and finally coding and based on Wallace model first inductively, following the formation of the content of concepts and theories in the form of a theoretical model, the model was then evaluated and evaluated in a deductive process using statistical techniques.

A. Statistical community and data collection

DISCUSSION & CONCLUSION

Prevention is considered as one of the basic policies and measures in the field of social control and monitoring. These policies are aimed at all direct and indirect measures and strategies to prevent the occurrence of crime, deviation and misconduct. This is the direction of the a priori policy, which is opposed to all kinds of punishments and security and training measures, which is the a posteriori policy, and it is more efficient and effective, and it is more economical in terms of social, economic and cultural costs.
In the set of prevention policies, three stages in crime prevention should be considered: In the first stage (before the crime occurs), the principle of learning social health should be considered and all measures and programs should be organized accordingly. In the second stage (the occurrence of crime, prevention policies take a special form and the phenomenon of crime and delinquency from the perspective of prevention is seriously studied and studied. The causes and factors of its formation and spread are identified, The types of crimes, their prevalence and extent, the geographical spread of the crime and its global map are drawn and the facilities of active institutions, such as police and law enforcement, courts and judicial institutions, counseling and assistance institutions are increased, and the third stage (post-occurrence stage). Crime emphasizes the detection, prosecution and punishment of criminals and delinquents. (Shamloo, Musazadeh, 2015).

Before the advent of the school of law, there was criminal prevention, and the theoretical foundations of criminal prevention were the insistence on formal methods of dealing with crime, that is, the imposition of punishment and effective measures to arrest perpetrators. However, with the birth of the research school in the fields of criminal anthropology and criminology, crime prevention entered a new phase and non-criminal prevention became more important (Najafi Abrandabadi, 2021).

After analyzing quantitative data through SPSS software and qualitative data through MAX QDA software, the following results were obtained. T-test showed a significant difference between the mean of the hypothesis and the amount of the test. Since the average is higher than the average level, it can be said that knowledge of legal rules in guaranteeing immunity Professional sports managers have an impact. The results of Table (3) show that the mean and standard deviation of the immunity index from the consequences are $4.23 \pm 0.795$, the mean and standard deviation of the index. Knowledge of legal rules in empowering professional managers is $3.56 \pm 0.479$. According to the table No. (4) It is considered that the average knowledge of professional managers of legal laws on immunity from the consequences of sports accidents in Iran is 4.24 and its standard deviation is 0.795.

Comparing the mean with the mean level (test value), t-test shows that \( t = 19.0434 \) and \( \text{sig} = 0.0001 \). Therefore, there was a significant difference between the mean of the hypothesis and the amount of the test. Since the average is above the average level, it can be said that the average knowledge of professional managers about legal laws has an effect on protection from the consequences of sports accidents in Iran. On the other hand, the effect size is 1.56, the values of 0.5, 0.5 and 0.8 indicate low, medium and high effect, respectively. Due to the larger size of the effect than 0.8, the effect of professional managers' awareness of legal laws on protection from the consequences of sports accidents in Iran is high.

The results of Table 3 indicate the most important factors related to the knowledge of professional managers on reducing accidents caused by sports operations in Iran using the Friedman test. The results of Chi-square test in Friedman test with value of \( \chi^2 = 284.059 \) and significant level = \( \text{sig} = 0.051 \) show that there is a significant difference between the priority of factors. The most important factor related to the awareness of professional managers on reducing accidents caused by sports operations is as follows in order of priority.

1. Immunity from the consequences
2. Creating conditions for the development and expansion of sports activities in accordance with the protection laws
3. Coordination, control and supervision of staff, supervisors, coaches and athletes
4. Description of the relevant duties and powers in sports
5. Sports offenses and offenses
6. Safety of sports facilities and equipment
7. Punitive laws and disciplinary regulations
8. Necessary measures for the spectators

Finally, considering the results obtained, it is necessary to establish a legal federation and, consequently, legal boards in the general departments of youth sports in the provinces of the country, which can include such things as: coordination, control and supervision of staff, supervisors, coaches and Athletes according to the relevant duties and authorities, necessary measures regarding the presence of spectators in clubs, observing the safety of sports facilities and equipment according to standards, creating conditions for the development and expansion of sports activities, using disciplinary rules and disciplinary regulations for offenders, protection from consequences Provide during sports activities. Professional sports managers, in order to support their field of activity, should take measures such as studying and training legal laws, employing specialized people such as experienced coaches, legal experts and legal advisors, and obtaining full civil liability insurance with a guarantee of at least one year after the end of insurance. Letter (due to the long process of cases in the courts); In case of an accident, it can solve the problems that have arisen for the managers and all the people covered (coaches, referees, athletes, spectators, administrative and service personnel, etc.) and guarantee their immunity against the incidents.

SUGGESTIONS

According to the studies conducted in the field of sports law and prevention of sports crimes, it is proposed to establish a sports law federation and focus on creating a clean and ethical sports environment in order to protect the rights of the Ministry of Sports and Youth and sports federations in national authorities. And International Sports took action and provided the possibility of judicial support for athletes and those involved in this field, including coaches, supervisors and referees, etc. in legal, national and international criminal authorities, such as the sports arbitration court. In this regard, the following suggestions can be considered and followed. Educational support for the prevention programs of the International Commission and the National Anti-Doping Committee in order to reduce this reprehensible problem; - Conducting scientific research on the causes and factors of crimes and sports crime; -
Investing and supporting research projects on sports law, sports crime prevention, sports law training to reduce legal and criminal harm caused by sports activities; - Supporting NGOs active in the field of sports law.
